10/6 Reading Assignment

Pay attention to how statistics are used to capture the economic division of labor between women and men in North Korea?

What were the unintended conseuqences of having a planned economy in North Korea?

Under which of the social sciences would this analysis fall under? Which social science category is the best fit? Anthropology, political science, sociology, economics, or criminology.